Combined Giving Campaigns Begin!

Support Appleseed through United Way and CFC

Appleseed is pleased to announce its involvement in two major combined giving campaigns, the United Way of the National Capital Area (UWNCA) and the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC), each of which officially kicked off this week.

Over the next three months, our supporters will be able to designate Appleseed as the recipient of charitable contributions collected through either campaign over the course of 2010. The solicitation period ends in mid-December, so please make a note of Appleseed's designation numbers, as listed in the UWNCA and CFC catalogues:

UWNCA: 9639

CFC: 10758

Donations can be made through payroll deductions, one-time or recurring credit/debit card payments, e-Checks or cash. If your office participates in either program, please contact the campaign manager for further details. You can also use the e-Giving function on the CFC website or visit the UWNCA site to donate online.

As always, your contributions to Appleseed will help bring justice and opportunity to the vulnerable and voiceless. And thanks to Appleseed's effective leveraging of pro bono resources - overhead is just 17 percent when all pro bono services are taken into account - your donations result in a maximal amount of vital programming.

Like Appleseed, UWNCA mobilizes community resources to support marginalized populations and create lasting, positive change. We share an effective philanthropic approach, engaging experts from the public, private and nonprofit sectors to identify social problems and craft strategic solutions.

Both the UWNCA and the CFC offer a dynamic new way to support Appleseed's social justice initiatives. For more information, please contact Appleseed Development Director Erica Henri at ehenri@appleseednetwork.org.
